Right now, they would like to spread the dollars out as much as possible among all products and are thinking about a point-of-sale rebate option. Program will probably be ran by a contracting company. Would like to work with AHAM on development of program, if possible.
Utah	$	52.38	million	Denise Beaudoin	801-537-3300	dbeaudoin@utah.gov	Yes
Vermont	$	33.52	million	Michael Russom	1-888-921-5990	mrussom@veic.org	Yes	Vermont did file initial application. Still working on program details; have thought about making rebate available for higher CEE tier appliances but only 4 stores in Vermont carry such products. In addition, the state has the highest saturation of Energy Star products in nation, so not for sure if they can force people up another tier or two, or if consumers are even interested in replacing products as they would see very little energy savings. Open to suggestions from AHAM.
Virginia	$	264.85	million	Al Christopher	804-692-3224	al.christopher@dmme.va.gov	Yes	Will be looking to partner with utilities to roll out the program, although all the details are not yet known.
